

European Food & Biomass Summit brings together experts and innovators in the bioeconomy industry

Thessaloniki, Greece - May 23, 2023

The European Food & Biomass Summit, co-organized by EIT Food, along with the European projects B-Resilient, BioeconomyVentures, and Model2Bio, is taking place on May 22-23, 2023, in Thessaloniki, Greece. This event aims to gather prominent experts and innovators in the field of bioeconomy.

The European Food & Biomass Summit is a two-day event dedicated to promoting the sustainable use of resources and the transition towards a circular bioeconomy. The program includes inspiring keynote speeches, panel discussions, and interactive sessions covering a wide range of topics, such as food security, sustainable agriculture, biotechnology, and circular economy.

In addition to the valuable presentations and discussions, the summit provides an exceptional platform for networking, enabling participants to explore new business opportunities, exchange knowledge and ideas, and establish strategic partnerships and collaborations.

The European Food & Biomass Summit continues to drive progress towards a more sustainable and circular bioeconomy. With the participation of prominent industry leaders, promising startups, and experts in the field, the event promises to be a crucial meeting point for innovation and advancement in the bioeconomy sector.
